

4K Center for Literacy NEWSLETTER March 2021

Principal Reflections....

I had forgotten about the red dirt. When Jack (my son) and I walked on to the cross country course in Stillwater, Oklahoma this week, I was immediately reminded that Oklahoma has red dirt everywhere. This detail is unimportant in a general sense. Though as I thought of the times I had visited Oklahoma and initially learned of the red dirt, I reflected on time spent as an athlete, a husband, and as a dad, while my wife and I lived in Wichita, Kansas as young adults. You see, we took our first teaching jobs in Kansas and ended up staying there for nine years. I went to graduate school there and our children were born there. There are a lot of memories that come from those years, and the red dirt brought many back to me.

I get that this would seem to have zero connection to you, and you're probably wondering, "where is he going with this?" Well, this week marks the one year point in which we essentially shut down the state in March 2020 due to the global pandemic. I have had many conversations in recent days related to the memories of the school closure, preparing for online learning without a vision of the future, preparing to open our schools in September, and the planning to give some level of choice for all families. Everyone has memories of challenges associated with this pandemic, but I like to point out that not all of them need to be bad memories. There certainly have been some unpleasant challenges, but I submit that there are things to be proud of, things to be happy we discovered, and things we learned will make us better.

For instance, although I wish we could have more contact with parents and families, holding virtual meetings has made my schedule easier to accommodate. I spent a ton more time with my own kids that I would otherwise not have been able to as schedules and work always get in the way. I have also spent significantly more time reading, both professionally and for pleasure, than I have in several years. Additionally, I also think I am finally getting my money's worth from my Netflix subscription.

Of course there are many other things to be thankful for, and please don't get me wrong, I don't ever want to go through another pandemic. Since I now have the opportunity to share my reflections with you in this newsletter - this is what you get this month. I love the work that we do in the Kimberly Area School District. We are continuously working to improve learning and consequently continuously reflecting on our delivery process for teaching and learning. We don't sit idly without effort to improve. Quite the contrary actually. In an effort to summarize the greatest efforts we are making these days, I would say that we are striving to increase engagement of our students by inviting them to be more aware of their performance and assist in setting direction for improvement. After all, it is WITH our students that we get better.

Finally, the weather is getting nicer and we have more daylight to enjoy these days. I hope that you are all able to get some much needed outdoor time, with your kids. Maybe you'll find your own red dirt. If you have any questions or concerns as we move toward the final quarter of the school year, please don't hesitate to reach out to me by email (sfitzgerald@kimberly.k12.wi.us), or by phone 423-4190.

CLOSE CONTACT GUIDE

What does it mean to be a close contact of someone with COVID-19?

You are a “close contact” if any of the following situations happened while you spent time with the person with COVID-19, even if they didn't have symptoms:

- ✓ Had direct physical contact with the person (for example, a hug, kiss, or handshake)
- ✓ Were within 6 feet of the person for more than 15 minutes
- ✓ Had contact with the person's respiratory secretions (for example, coughed or sneezed on; contact with dirty tissue; shared a drinking glass, food, towels, or other personal items)
- ✓ Live with the person or stayed overnight for at least one night in a household with the person

EXAMPLE

Your child was playing outside with a neighborhood friend when he drank from the friend's water bottle without thinking. The following day, the friend developed symptoms and subsequently tested positive for COVID-19. Your child is a close contact.

EXAMPLE

I went out to eat with a friend yesterday and we were within 6 feet of each other for 30 minutes. The following day my friend tested positive for COVID-19. I am now a close contact. What about my child? Your child is NOT a close contact as your child did not spend time with your friend.

If you had contact with someone who has been diagnosed with COVID-19 you may be at risk of infection. Follow these recommendations for 10 days since your last close contact with someone with COVID-19.

As a close contact, what does it mean to quarantine?

- Stay home
- Avoid travel
- Go out only if absolutely necessary
- Postpone all non-essential medical appointments until your quarantine is over
- Do not use public transportation, ride-sharing, or taxis
- Wear a face cover when you are around others
- Continue to monitor your symptoms for a full 14 days and if you develop symptoms from day 11 to 14, quarantine and contact your healthcare provider.

It sometimes can be difficult to define:

- Take your time to pay attention to your surroundings and to the behaviors of others around you.
- Know what suspicious or concerning behaviors look like.
- Does the activity look strange to you?
- Are you worried someone you know is thinking about hurting others or themselves?

Report it, don't just repeat it.

Your eligible children have the right to:

- Receive a free, appropriate public education.
  - Enroll in school immediately, even if lacking documents normally required for enrollment.
  - Enroll in school and attend classes while the school gathers needed documents.
  - Enroll in the local school; or continue attending their school of origin (the school they attended when permanently housed or the school in which they were last enrolled), if that is your preference.
- * If the school district believes that the school you select is not in the best interest of your children, then the district must provide you with a written explanation of its position and inform you of your right to appeal its decision.
- Receive transportation to and from the school of origin, if you request this.
  - Receive educational services comparable to those provided to other students, according to your children's needs.

If you believe your children may be eligible, contact the local liaison to find out what services and supports may be available. There also may be supports available for your preschool-age children.
