A Message from our Principal

Greetings from Westside Elementary,

I hope this newsletter finds you ramping up to summer break like the rest of us! May is such a busy time for parents and children. My children are in track and baseball. For the first time in our family, we have children in sports at the same time. So my wife and I are dividing and conquering the best we can until June 2nd. Kudos to all families with more than two kids that do lots of different things! We are running ragged already and it hasn't even gotten busy yet.

At Westside, May is a time to celebrate all the great things that our students and staff have accomplished throughout the year. This May is especially exciting because we are operating like it's 2019! Thich means we have field trips planned, guest speakers, assemblies, and parents are coming in and visiting during lunch. We even have a school dance in a few weeks! We hope to see your increased presence around Westside this last month.

One of the major areas to celebrate growth this time of year is in problem solving. That has been an area of focus for Westside over the past five years. When our 4th graders started 5k we had a renewed focus around having an identity as a reader, an author, and an overall learner. We continued that as they progressed through the grades to have a growth mindset and then advocate for themselves as a learner. At the May 9th school board meeting, we will be presenting and celebrating all of our elementary students and their ability to identify what they are learning, what success looks like, and if they aren't successful, figuring out a plan to get there with a peer or a teacher. I have spent many, many hours with our 4th graders over the past five years watching them grow as problem solvers and it truly amazing! I am so proud of them and all of our students!

Warm Regards,

Jonathan Peterson

Measures of Academic Progress Information Sheet

Near the end of the school year, parents will receive their student's MAP results. Those results will be mailed with a cover letter that provides some information about the MAP test and how to interpret the results sheet. This Information Sheet is designed to provide additional information about MAP testing and its uses.

Questions and Answers

What is NWEA MAP?

NWEA is the Northwest Evaluation Association, a not-for-profit organization committed to helping school districts across the nation improve student achievement.

MAP (Measures of Academic Progress) is one of the assessments NWEA offers to districts to improve student achievement.

What does a MAP assessment look like?

A MAP assessment is a computer delivered adaptive test. As the student responds to questions the computer builds a test for that student based on correct or incorrect responses to previous questions.

What do MAP assessments measure?

MAP assessments are aligned to Wisconsin State Standards and are designed to measure student knowledge and skills in the content areas of reading, language arts, and mathematics.

How is a MAP test scored?

The test results identify your child's academic achievement in RIT scores. This is a different type of score than a typical test which usually reports a percentage correct. The RIT score is a continuous scale, independent of grade level. As a result, your child's academic growth from fall to spring, and from one school year to the next can be easily measured, similar to how a student's height can be measured with a ruler.

Who takes the MAP assessment?

Students in grades 5 thru 8 take the MAP assessment in the areas of reading, mathematics, and sometimes language arts.

What is the difference between MAP and the Forward (state test)?

The results of the state's annual test (Forward) indicate whether a student is performing at grade level. The MAP test identifies a student's instructional level. Because MAP is given in both the fall and spring, a student's growth during the school year can also be measured.

How are the results of MAP testing used?

The MAP assessment, combined with other student performance results, provides the teaching staff with valuable information to inform instruction. Because of the nature of the scoring system used by MAP, a student's progress or growth can be tracked during the school year and from school year to school year. MAP results can also be used to set and monitor school improvement goals.

When are students assessed and how often?

MAP allows for testing a child up to four times a year in each content area. In the Kimberly Area School District, students are tested in reading and math once in the Fall (September/ October) and once in the Spring (April/May).

Some testing is also done at mid-year (January/February) when teachers want to check on the progress students are making.

What does the MAP report look like?

Understanding the Report

Term/Year - The test term (FA=Fall, SP=Spring, WI=Winter) and the year when the student took the test.

Grade - The student's grade in school at the time of testing.

RIT - The blue bar in the chart and the middle number in the results table show this student's RIT score. The numbers on either side of the RIT score in the table define the score +/- the standard error. If retested soon, the student's score would fall within this range most of the time.

District Grade Level Mean RIT - The average RIT score for students in the Kimberly school district at this grade level who were tested at the same time.

Norm Grade Level Mean RIT - The average RIT score for students in this grade level who were tested at the same time from a national sample.

RIT Growth - Presents the student's growth in RIT points made between Fall and Spring testing.

Growth Projection - The average growth of students who were in the same grade and began the same term at a similar RIT score according to the most recent NWEA statistical study.

Percentile Range - The number in the middle is this student's percentile rank, or the percentage of students that had a RIT score less than or equal to this student's score according to the most recent NWEA statistical study. The numbers on either side of the percentile rank define the percentile range. If retested soon, this student's percentile rank would be within this range most of the time.

Goals Performance - For each subject area, Goals Performance information is presented below the bar graphs. Goals Performance describes how well the student did in different areas of that subject on the most recent test.

Lexile Range - Lexile is a reading measure. The Lexile range can be used to help students find books that match their reading level.

May Life Skills

Connect @ home: Ask your child(ren) what their favorite part of Life Skills was this year

All grades will spend our last lesson doing a review on the year. We will do this through games, activities, and conversation.

This is a great way for me to check-in with kids to see what they learned, what they enjoyed, and what I can make better next year.

A message to our fourth grade families:

I have appreciated the opportunity to get to know your fourth grade students over these last two years. I will truly miss this class as they take their journey to Mapleview next school year. I wish all of them the absolute best and hope they come say hi sometime next year :)

Looking Forward:

Wow! I can't believe this school year went so quickly. I have seen your children grow in their academic, social, and emotional skills in so many ways.

I have seen kids show kindness and empathy, become independent problem solvers, and learn skills to help regulate their emotions.

I cannot wait for next school year but am looking forward to summer break. I hope you all enjoy the summer and we will see you again in the fall!

I enjoyed reading the responses I got from the parent survey I put in the April Newsletter. Thank you to those that filled it out!

If you didn't get a chance to fill it out yet, I would love to get some parent feedback on my monthly newsletter and the Counseling Program here at Westside.

Please use the link below to fill out a brief survey. Thank you in advance for any information you have to share with me!

I look forward to reading your responses and using them to make my counseling program even better!

Teaching Children How to Follow Directions and Listen Effectively

Many children in their developmental stages will shy away from following directions and listening. It's a natural reaction; children don't want to be told what to do, because the world is so fresh and new. However, it's important that, as a parent, you understand the necessity for developing these skills at an early age. If your child chooses not to listen to your directions, they may do the same in school and continue to do so for the rest of their life. By instilling a sense of importance and urgency around following directions and listening effectively, you can help your child come to understand why it's so important to you and the rest of the family.

When a Child Doesn't Listen, Employ Defensive Strategies

Let's say your child throws a tantrum in the middle of the grocery store and won't stop screaming. As a parent, would you leave the store immediately with your child, or give them what they want? Many parents would choose the latter simply to make their child be quiet. This is not the optimal choice for teaching children how to listen and follow directions in the long run! Gentle but firm is the prescription for these situations.

Just because you think it's okay this one time, it isn't - your child will automatically resort to crying and fits to get what they want from that point forward. It is far better to experience the momentary discomfort than set this pattern up for future repetition.

Remember

- Don't respond to your child's request just because it's something they want. Do they deserve it? •
  - Rely on other members of your family to help with these steps •
- Encourage your child to be open with you in a healthy way, no matter what age •

Listening Is Just as Important as Following Directions

Helping your child become a better listener is the second step.

When you tell them to do something and they give you an attitude, have them repeat your first direction. If they still refuse to listen, you might have to resort to disciplinary action.

- Enroll in school and attend classes while the school gathers needed documents.
- Enroll in the local school; or continue attending their school of origin (the school they attended when permanently housed or the school in which they were last enrolled), if that is your preference.

- Receive transportation to and from the school of origin, if you request this.

We are encouraging school and community members to become the eyes and ears of the Kimberly Area School District in order to provide information that keeps our students, staff and schools safe.

It sometimes can be difficult to define:

- Take your time to pay attention to your surroundings and to the behaviors of others around you.
- Know what suspicious or concerning behaviors look like.
- Does the activity look strange to you?
- Are you worried someone you know is thinking about hurting others or themselves?

Report it, don't just repeat it.
